SHE IS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY TO KILL THE PRESIDENT.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Chicago, Sept. 10.-Emma Goldman, she whose denunciation of government and society, it is alleged, inflamed the anarchist Czolgosz and turned him into the wouldbe assassin of President McKinley, was arrested in this city to-day. She had been here, so she says, since Sunday morning working for the welfare of her anarchist friends, prisoners here, and enjoying herself by dodging the police.

Breathing out defiance of government, eaping words of scorn on the police, expressing complete indifference toward the stricken President, but disclaiming all idea of violence and all connection with Czolgosz, she faced the Chief of Police and the Mayor and a host of city officials and newspaper men in the Chief's office. She was strikingly bold in her language.

When the hours of questioning were over nd when she had been given a good taste of that relentiess, deep-going, ever-repeated examination which in public and private nterviews in the days to come will search the hidden places of her thoughts, she was taken away to the women's annex at the Harrison street fall, where she will be held for the present. CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE PRESIDENT.

A warrant was sworn out for her in Justice Prindiville's court by Chief of Detectives Colleran, charging her with conspiracy with Isaaks and with all the men women arrested in their Carroll avenue house, excepting Henry Travaglio, to murder William McKinley. She will appear sfore Justice Prindiville at the opening of his court to-morrow morning to answer to the charge, and she will be held over for ten days without bail, awaiting further in restigation. The charge does not mention Czolgosz as a fellow-conspirator.

All the indications point to the early sfer of Miss Goldman from the city to the Federal authorities and to the ul timate handling of her case by the Gov ernment which her followers outraged in

The wires were kept warm with mess between Chief O'Neill and the Buffalo authorities to-day. But the latter seemed a sea as to what was the best attitude to take, and they were delighted that Chicago was willing to assume the responsibility and hold the most important of all su pects, outside of the assassin himself, in ore than I could do in ten years. They ninent people connected with the an archist cause could make in ten years. If they will only continue I shall be very grateful; they will save me lots of work." Asked if she had been on the downtown streets before her arrest, she answered:

"Certainly, I have. I have been shopping have been in restaurants; in fact, I passe the City Hall several times. The polic knew positively that I was coming. ed. "because I wrote on Friday, from St. Louis, that I was coming, both t Mr. Havel and to Mr. Norris; that I would come Sunday, if I got through with my business on Saturday, and if so I would telegraph them the hour of my arrival. I also sid that if I did not come on Sunday would surely come on Monday or Tuesday These letters they must have seen at No. 515

"What do you think of your own arrest?" he was asked.

"If I told you," she replied, "it would look somewhat conceited, and I certainly would not like to be guilty of that. Not only my arrest, but the others, smack of the Haymarket. The police are very much in dis repute all over the country, and they wish to do something to clear themselves. They are trying to make it an anarchist plot; if they wish to make up a case they may sucports that it was a result of an anarchis plot. Mark Hanna has been the ruler of this country, not McKinley. McKinley has been the most insignificant ruler that this country has ever had. He has neither wit nor intelligence, but has been a tool in the hands of Hanna. Other Presidents have had a heart, or something, but this poor fellow-God forgive him, since he knows nothing-is a tool in the hands of the wealthy, and it seems very remarkable for Mark Hanna to say that he was notified of a plot for his assassination. I think Mc-Kinley too insignificant for such a thing. "What man in the United States, in your opinion, is of sufficient prominence to warrant such a plot?" she was asked. "I am not in a position to say," replied Miss Goldman, "who ought to be killed. The monopolists and the wealthy of this country are responsible for the existence of a Czologosz. If imperialism would not grow in this country, if the liberties of the people were not trampled upon, there would have been no assassin."

HER ONLY SORROW Referring to the would-be assassin, Mis-

Goldman sald: "I feel that the man is one of those un fortunates who has been driven to despair and misery to commit the deed. I feel very deeply with him as an individual, as I would feel with anybody who suffers. If I had means I would help him as much as could; I would see that he had counsel and that fustice was done him." Although the whole world waited eagerly Friday afternoon for the bulletins from the President's bedside, Miss Goldman did no care enough about the report that he had been shot, which she heard newsboys shouting, to buy a paper. It was Saturday noon before her interest was sufficiently aroused to cause her to buy a newspaper containing the story. She was more interested in the arrest of the Chicago an archists than in the President's condition.

When asked why she did not appear before the people when she learned she was wanted, Miss Goldman said:

"For reasons of my own I did not make myself known. I like to fool the police when I can. The very fact that I came to Chicago shows that I had no intention of hiding myself. If I had wanted to I would have been able to go from St. Louis right across to Canada, and then they would have looked for me a long time. I came here especially to be on the spot when I saw the necessity of announcing mysel Mr. Isaak and his family, they being among the anarchists arrested. If the police were able to connect me with the attack on the President, I was ready to give myself up.

"When I arrived in Chicago I went to a hotel and registered under an assumed name. Later I went to the home of Mr C. P. Norrisk, whom I have known in business way for about a year. As far as I know he is not an anarchist, but he saw no shelter to another in this land of the free. and he did it."

"As I have repeatedly said, it is foolish hink that this man would claim that he did that deed alone and unaided, and at the same time claim that I inspired him. If he had accomplices, and still claims that he was acting alone, do you think he would have singled me out as the only friend he would not protect by assuming entire responsibility? DENIED HER IDENTITY AND DESCRIBED JOURNEYINGS.

The police are not entirely satisfied with Miss Goldman's story. When Captain Schuettler and Detective Hertz discovered her at the home of one Norris, at No. 303 Sheffield avenue, she denied her identity. "Hello, Miss Goldman," said the Captain, "as he entered the parlor. "Are you glad to see me?" "I'm not Miss Goldman; I'm a Swedish woman and my name is Lena Larson. answered the anarchist, endeavoring to imitate a Swedish dialect. "All right; I speak Swedish, myself," said the police officer, as he poured out a few questions in the Norse tongue. Miss Goldman did not answer him, affecting to misunderstand. Detective Hertz, meanwhile, had discovered a penholder with the name "Emma Goldman" engraved on "What does this mean?" asked Captain

Schuettler, holding the inscribed penholder "It means that the game is up," she said. She then admitted her identity fully and accompanied the officers. The woman was hurried to the police chief's office. Her penalty for assaults on the President, and appearance tallied exactly with the description sent out by the Associated Press | the Commander-in-Chief of the army, with resterday. During the talk which followed, Miss

Soldman detailed as best she could recollect her movements since last July. Sh went from Chicago to Buffalo, accompanie by Miss Isaaks, the daughter of the a leged anarchist editor under arrest here. In Buffalo they stopped two days an then proceeded to Rochester, where they stopped at the home of Miss Goldman's sister, Mrs. H. Hochstein, of 213 Joseph street. Here they visited a little more than five weeks. The only incident of it was a short visit to Niagara Falls and another New York on business. In the latter city Miss Goldman entered temporarily into the employ of a firm the name of which she would not divulge. Business for them can ried her to Pittsburg. She was in Cincinnati Labor Day and that night left for St.

"I saw the police there Sunday all right," the prisoner said, with a sarcastic little laugh, "but they didn't see me. I heard of the arrest of Mr. Isaaks and his family and other anarchists in Chicago, and determined to come here and see if I could not help them. Mr. Isaaks has not been in the country long, and I was afraid he would not know what to do when in legal difficul "What have you done to help him?" Captain Schuettler asked. "Well," she answered slowly. "I hav been looking for men to go on their bonds providing the courts would allow us to furnish them."

SHE EXPLAINS HER MEETING WITH CZOLGOSZ.

"It was early last July when I came to Chicago to visit the Isaaks family," she continued, in answer to interrogations concerning her whereabouts recently. "On the night of July 13 Mr. Isanks was out of the bouse. The bell rang and I went to the door. The man who, I learn through the newspapers, was Czolgosz, stood there. He suld he wanted to see me. I was about to catch the Nickel Plate train, as I and Mr. Isaaks's daughter were about to go to Rochester. He went to the Rock Island depot with us, but I was so busy taking leave of my friends that I scarcely noticed him. It was not a time when one would to make new friends. At the depo I had the few words with him of which have told. That was all there ever was between us.

There may be an-archists who would murder, but there are also men in every walk of life who sometimes feel the impulse to kill. Chief Kiely Aided Greatly in Emma Goldman's Capture.

Chief of Police Kiely of St. Louis, was received with satisfaction in police circles, from the President of the Board of Police Commissioners down to the patroiman in Commissioners down to the patroimin in the ranks.

Since last Saturday the St. Louis police, and especially the detectives, under instructions from Chiefs Kiely and Desmond, lead searched for the woman, who was known to have many haunts in this city. Chief Kiely's persistent orders to get definite trace of the Goldman woman resulted in the men of his department trailing her to Chicago. Chief C'Neil of that city was telegraphed by Chief Kiely, and it was an casy matter for the Chicago detectives to visit the number on the street given by them and arrest the famous anarchist lecturer and writer.

The woman whose words the would-be assassin said inspired him to shoot the President had stopped in St. Louis last Saturday, where she held eight conferences with local anarchists on that day.

When this much was learned by Chief Kiely he never relaxed his efforts to locate Miss Goldman.

New York, Sept. 10.-All the members of GARFIELD ON ASSASSINATION.

"Can No More Be Guarded Against Than Death by Lightning." REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Washington, Sept. 10 .- In John Sherman's book, "Recollections," is the following interesting reference to Garfield's assaus

"I received a letter from a Mr. Hudson of Detroit, which expressed a fear that Gen-eral Garfield was in serious danger of assassination, giving particulars. I sent it at once to Garfield, and received from him the following answer, very significant, in view of the tragedy that occurred the following

" 'Mentor, O., Nov. 16, 1890.-My Dear Sir: The letter of Mr. Hudson of Detroit, with your indorsement, came duly to hand. I do not think there is any serious danger in the direction to which he refers, though I am receiving what I suppose to be the usual number of threatening letters on that subject. Assassination can no more be guarded against than death by lightning. and it is not best to worry about either. I expect to go to Washington before long to close up some household affairs, and I shall expect to see you. With kind regards, I am very truly yours, J. A. GARFIELD.
